This site is not available in your country after years of establishing itself in the fashion industry as a stylist, designer, and entrepreneur, Rachel Zoe is ready to leave her keen eyes in the home space for the first time. This month, she launched collections with Pottery Barn Kids and Pottery Barn Ken, and the results are as glamorous as you'd expect. Each piece is enufused with the luxurical touches that characterize Zoe's mode, think: sequences, metallics, animal printing, feathers, and more. And, because Zoe herself is a big proposing of using your teenage year of honey, the young pieces in particular are designed to promote personal expression and creativity. And while the products are gearing up toward kids and teenagers, adults are sure to love them as well -- I personally crush on seats to push the cave. The colour palet is also sophisticated and serene, featuring mostly whites, creams, blushes, and tons of gold, so nothing feels too baby. In short, these are pieces that can grow as your child grows (or even be embedded in an adult home). So what products are Zoe's favorites? Read on to find out. West Elm x Pottery Barn that combines Elm's West Elm Signature centuries with pottery barn sensitivity pleasures young physics. The entire 20-piece collection is a true gem. There are many synergy legacys in this collaboration with our sister brand, West Elm, Jennifer Kellor, the chairman of Pottery Barn Teen, says MyDomaine. We decided to partner on a modern collection to offer the customer something functional and beautiful, deeply rooted in sustainability and quality commitment. We decided to partner on a modern collection to offer the customer something functional and beautiful, deeply rooted in our sustainable commitment and quality. This collection is as much about sustainability as it is about style. All the wood is GREENGUARD Gold, FSC and Just Certified Trading. GREENGUARD Gold certification means that the products made without 10,000+ chemicals and VOCs tknown cause air polishing indoor, making for a cleaner product product with your home. FSC products are made of sustainable source materials in a way that preserves biological diversity, as well as conserve water resources and ecosystem. Fair certification requires manufacturers to meet certain standards for health and safety of their workers, who are paid fairly for their work. The functionality of this line is hardly child stuff. Adults (with teenagers who taste great in furniture) will appreciate innovative use of this collection, including everything from larger pieces of furniture such as bed and desk to accent rugs and lighting. The pieces are all made with a bearings in mind, and include smart touch such as USB ports and many extra built-in storage. Shopable on both West Elm and Pottery Barn Ken, these are the must-have items we've got our eyes on.west Elm x Pottery Barn Ken Mid-Century Headboard Storage Deck $1399+ Shop available in full size and queen size with a choice of night or Agreement Wood, this bed was inspired by the 1950s and 1960 silhouets with iconic English legs and clean lines. While most storage beds have drawers, this one has cabinet and shelters built at the top. So it's a great choice if you don't have room to pull designs. Cabinet are an ideal place for storing extra bedding and pillows, or an cast sheet for those cold nights. Shelters are great for styling books or show kckckknackcks. Another bonus in the bed is that it's easy to assemble and has a flat roller foundation. So a spring box is not required. West Elm x Pottery Barn That Mid-Century Vanity Office Set $999 Shop Finally, a piece of furniture that solves a big problem. Most writing desks don't have space for a mirror or anywhere to stash away makeup. And it's very difficult to find room for a computer on most vanity. But this thoughtful well-designed piece can do it all, with an easily removable vanity (the mirror and two drawers), giving us extra room to work. However, at 48 inches wide, the tabletop is more than large enough to keep both the vanity and a laptop over. Available in white, little rock, or wood agreement, the office vanity features a total of five drawers really maximizing storage. The simple bronze accents are the perfect agreement of this piece. West Elm Pottery Barn Ken Staggered Glass Table Lamp and USB$149 Shop USB lamp are perhaps the most useful accessories ever invented, and this one is no exception. Finishing in brass, she stands out thanks to her sophisticated gold orb. While it could be used in a home office or night, it would look similarly large on a side table adjacent to a sofa. West Elm Pottery Barn that Mid-Century Smart Wall Desk + Bookcase Tower $1995 Shop If you could describe furniture as a triple threat this piece would be just that.
